

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, November 1. 1764.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 7.

Venice, October 25.

THE Imperial Troops commanded by the Count of Leiningen increase in Number daily, and are posted between Guada and Chiari; we hear the Marquis Davia is return'd thither from Piemont, whither he went to concert Measures with the Duke of Savoy. Prince Pio is gone to Vienna on the same Subject. The Imperialists have receiv'd a further Reinforcement, viz. a Regiment of Foot and 300 Horses for the Regiment of Rocavione; and expect others daily by the way of Louron. The Grand Prior of France who observes them, has made a Motion towards Isarella where he expects Monsieur de Langalerie a Lieutenant General with a Regiment of Horse and 600 Foot; which are order'd to joyn him after they have conducted to Pizzighitone the Garrison of the Fort of Baard in the Valley of Aoste who were made Prisoners of War. They write from Mantua, that they had discover'd the Imperialists had a secret Intelligence with some Persons in Bozolo; the Imperialists make continual Incursions into the Cremonese, where 'tis said they have pillag'd Scandolara and Roncheto. The Garrison of Cremona is oblig'd to make Sallies every day upon the Hussars, who advance under the very Walls of that Place.

From the Camp of the Grand Prior of France at Medoli, October 15. The Count of Leiningen continues encamp'd at the Foot of the Mountains of the Bressan. He gives out he will march towards the Upper Oglio, as soon as he has receiv'd the Succours that are coming to him. We have within a few days been reinforc'd by 13 Squadrons and 6 Battallions, and we still expect 9 Battallions and 3 Squadrons, which will make our Army 22 Battallions and 40 Squadrons strong; besides the Troops that are employ'd in the Blockade of Mirandola. The Grand Prior impatiently expects the rest of the Reinforcements which the Duke of Vendome has promis'd to send to him, that he may be in a Condition to move nearer to the Imperialists, and like them to live at the Expence of the Republick of Venice. Monsieur de Langalerie arriv'd here yesterday, and tomorrow Monsieur de Prafull sets out from Mantua, to serve in the Duke of Vendome's Army in Piemont. Monsieur de Chauumont has been several days with his Régiment in Castiglione delle Stivere; where he has set Men to work on the Fortifications, to render the Place strong enough to make a long Resistance in case it be attack'd by the Count of Leiningen.

The Rotterdam Gazette of November 6. in an Article from Genoa, dated Octob. 11. says, the French King's Minister has obtain'd leave of the Great Duke of Tuscany, to buy 3000 Horses in his Dominions. And in an Article from the Camp of the Imperialists under the Count of Leiningen, dated Octob. 24. that those Imperialists are to wait till Prince Eugene of Savoy arrives to command them, before they make any further Motion.

From the Amst. Gazette and Courant, dated Nov. 4.

Venice, Octob. 22. The Danish Troops that are quarter'd in Silesia, have pass'd in Review at Toppin, and are to march into Italy: Whither there will likewise be sent 2 Companies of the Regiment of the great Master of the Teutonick Order, 2 of that of Heister, 2 of that of Thierheim, and 2 of that of Virmont. 'Tis advis'd from Hungary, that Monsieur Desalleurs, formerly Envoy from the King of France to the Court of Prussia, is arriv'd at the Hot Baths near Schemnitz where he has waited on Prince Ragotski; who receiv'd him very honourably. He came about by the way of Durazzo, and through Dalmatia, and by Belgrade. Prince Ragotski frequently receives considerable Sums of Money from Poland, which no Question is remitted to him from the French Court.

From the Amsterd. Courant, dated Nov. 7.

Vienna, Octob. 25. Mr. Stepney, Envoy extraordinary from the Queen of England, return'd hither the 22d from the Army in Alsace, and after he had had an Audience of the Emperor and conferr'd with some of the Imperial Ministers, he went hence the 23d to Presbourg, in Order to repair to the Congress at Schemnitz, to endeavour jointly with Monsieur Hamel Bruyninx Envoy extraordinary from the States General, to reestablish the Peace of Hungary; and 'tis hop'd they will be able to render fruitless the Efforts which the Ministers of France and Bavaria make to traverse the present Treaty of Accommodation. 'Tis reported that after Mr. Stepney has founded the Chief of the Malecontents, he will return hither to acquaint his Imperial Majesty how they stand dispos'd. Monsieur Hamel Bruyninx is at present with Prince Ragotski. The Count de Galasch set out from hence yesterday, to go to the Camp before Landau, to confer with Count Wratilau, and then to proceed to England, whither he is sent with the Character of Envoy Extraordinary. The Count de Berg is order'd to go from hence to Lintz and thence to Tyrol on some Affair of Importance that is yet kept secret. At Buda and Pest, the Imperial Commissaries get in all the Provisions they can possibly, for the Subsistence of the Troops this Winter; but the Country is almost ruin'd, and Provisions is very scarce, the Malecontents seizing all they can lay their Hands on, notwithstanding the Suspension of Arms. The Levies and Recruits go on pretty successfully in our Suburbs and other Places hereabouts; when their Number is grown somewhat considerable, they will be order'd to march to Hungary. The Advices from Schemnitz give us great Hopes still of Peace; and assure us the Preliminaries to the Treaty are actually adjusting.

From the Harl. Cour. and Leid. Gaz. dated Nov. 6.

Warfaw, Octob. 23. King Augustus decamp'd from Zacroczin the 18th of this Month; and having pass'd the Vistula over a Bridge which he had caus'd to be laid below the Mouth of the River Bug, his Majesty came with his Army the same Evening into our Neighbourhood and took up his Quarters in this City. The next day, the King of Sweden appear'd with his Army near Praeg; and sent some Troops to the River-side over against this Place, probably to see whether King Augustus had any Garrison in it; His Polish Majesty order'd some Cannon to be fir'd upon them to make them retire. Since that day there has been cannonading on both sides, several times tmes. [His Majesty has made] the Dispositions necessary for hindring the Swedes from passing the Vistula; and 'tis reported, he has resolv'd to continue here, till he see which way the Enemies will bend their March; and then he will decamp to observe their Motions. The King of Sweden is gone to Pultow, but his Troops continue in sight of this City. We have Advice, that the Swedish General Leeuwen-haupt has caus'd the Castle of Birzen to be blown up, and is retir'd with the Troops he commands into Courland, upon the approach of a Body of Muscovites said to be 17 or 18000 Men strong.

From General Brand's Camp before Polnania, Oct. 22. General Meyerfelt who commands in the Town, appears determin'd to defend it to the last Extremity. He has caus'd the Suburbs to be burnt; and as Deserters inform us, has assur'd the Magistrates that the King of Sweden his Master will not fail to come time enough to relieve it. The Siege goes on but slowly, because we want heavy Cannon: But we propose to carry it on more vigorously, after we have receiv'd the Artillery from Saxony which we expect to day or tomorrow. Mean time we have done as much as could be done, with the Artillery of the Muscovite Troops that are with us, consisting of 13 Cannons and 1 Mortar; and have already made a Breach, on the Left of the Gate of Breslau towards the Castle, wide enough for 9 or 10 Men to mount it in Front. We have sent over the River Warta 13 Troops of Poles and 1000 Saxon Horse, to pursue 500 Swedes who are got out of the Place, and at the same time to cover the Train of heavy Artillery which is coming to us from Saxony under a strong Guard.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 4.

Leipsick, October 29. Commissions and Money are given out for raising 4 Regiments of Dragoons, which are to be compleated and in a Condition to march into the Field in the Month of March next. 1000 Men of the Regiment of Swiss Guards, and a Battallion of Grenadiers, were detach'd to-day under the Command of Lieutenant Collonel Nermich on some Expedition that is kept secret. This Detachment is gone in 400 Waggon, for the greater speed; and other Waggon with fresh Horses are order'd to be ready to take them up on the Roads at convenient Distances. Major General Mellerargues, Collonel of the Swiss Guards, came hither t'other day to give Orders for a great Quantity of Ammunition of War to be sent away; which we suppose is design'd to be us'd in the same Expedition.
